Jack J. Reynolds, Jr. Joins Commerce Street Capital as Senior Vice President of Bank Development

DALLAS, TX (December 22, 2008) Commerce Street Capital LLC, an investment banking firm serving community banks, has recently appointed Jack J. Reynolds, Jr. as a senior vice president in the bank development group. This announcement was made by Lee Bradley, managing director of bank development of Commerce Street Capital.

In his new role, Reynolds will be responsible for consulting with the management teams of community banks in their initial and secondary capital-raising efforts. Reynolds is currently working with the management team at First Century Bank in Gainesville, Ga., and also consulted on the secondary offering Commerce Street Capital recently completed for Piedmont Community Bank in Gray, Ga.

“Jack Reynolds understands the problems facing banks today and has a good perspective of what we need to be doing to help them,” stated Bradley, who has been raising capital since 1987.

Reynolds has more than 30 years of experience in the financial industry. Since 2001, Reynolds has been an organizer of several community banks in metro Atlanta. He is Chairman of American Trust Bancorp and Resurgens Bancorp, which opened their banks for business in 2003 and 2008, respectively.

Reynolds is also a certified public accountant and founded his CPA practice in 1978. He earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting from the University of Georgia and holds multiple securities licenses.
